Overall evaluation

Some notes to be paid attentions (General):

1. The paper is written well. However, the paper does not follow the AIP proceeding paper format. Strictly follow the AIP proceeding paper format for every single detail, everything, for the referencing style, it must follow the AIP referencing style, how you cite a journal paper, a proceeding paper, a book, etc.
2. Make sure, you use the same number for the authors who come from the same affiliation at the authors' name. Also, for the author who has one letter on the superscripts, use punctuation of comma on the superscript not as normal text. Then, separates each author with a punctuation of comma, except for the second last author.
3. Put the wording of "Corresponding author" in front of email address for the author who is the corresponding author, like the AIP paper template shows.
4. Check the numbers in the whole paper, check the use of dots and commas. Commas for the number in English has different meaning compared to Indonesian language. Also, check the numbers in all tables and graphs in your paper. Are all numbers written for the number in English?
5. Do not put any letter or number in front of section and sub-section titles.
6. For the figures and tables on the paper, please make sure that all figures and all tables are mentioned in the main text of the paper. When you mention it in the paper, please mention as it appears in its caption, for example Figure 1, it should be "Figure 1" in the main text, not "figure 1" or "Fig. 1" or just "figure". Moreover, when you mention multiple figures in one sentence, use the plural word of figure i.e Figures 2, 3, and 4, for example. The figure itself should appear after you mentioned it and it should be as close as possible to that first mentioned sentence. It applies for table as well.
7. Translate everything into English, even it is inside the figure or table, by so international readers can understand.
8. Check for the English grammatical errors and typos in the whole paper.
9. It is no need to put the details of any calculation (if any). It will save the space in the paper. Just put the result if it is necessary and mention how you get the result.
10. Check the referencing style of AIP. The references do not follow the AIP referencing style. The references use the number without any brackets, when you cite a reference, you just mention the number in between the squared brackets e.g. [5], not in just the bracket or author and year of publication, like you did. It is the format of AIP proceeding used. Moreover, please translate your reference into English as much as you can and use the common English term and strictly follow the referencing style of AIP proceeding. Also, put only references that you used or cited in the main text, for your reference lists (bibliography).
11. Overall, it is suggested to check the paper format whether it follows the AIP paper format or not and check the English grammar errors and typos.
