Comments to the Author

Thanks for addressing the comments. Table 2 was poorly presented. Few things:

(1) The title should state:

Adjusted Hazard Ratio (HR) of in-hospital mortality among patients with COVID-19 for D-dimer, sex, and coexisting disorders

(2) In Table 2, the results for the interaction model were not provided? Please provide the results of the interaction analysis to Table 2 so that the text matches the results in the tables.

(3) Also, the results as is in Table 2 are poorly presented. When you list D-dimer, you should state [1 unit increment], when you state sex, you have to specify both the comparative and reference categories (Male, and Female), and for Coexisting disorder both the Yes and No categories should be shown with REF=1 for the No category.

(4) The last paragraph before the discussion section is all jumbled together and hard to read...thick ink.

(5) The discussion should include some text about the findings that males have lower cut-off compared with females

(6) "Male have lower cut-off compared with female" should be replaced with:

"Males have lower cut-off compared to females"
